

SATURDAY EVENING, NOV. 21, 1908

ANOTHER Virginia editor, Mr. Joseph Bryan, of the Richmond Times Dispatch, has succumbed to the strenuous life and died last night at his home, near Richmond. Mr. Bryan was a gallant Confederate soldier and after the war entered into active business pursuits in most of which he had been successful. He was a man of indomitable will and having ample means at his command was enabled to embark in enterprises denied to many of less fortunate circumstances. He engaged in the newspaper business not for the money he might make but for the love of the excitement and the influence his paper might wield. He had told his intimates that his first venture in the newspaper field, with the Richmond Times, cost him thousands upon thousands of dollars, till he bought out the Dispatch and consolidated the two papers, after which the property began to bring in a revenue. He was a self-willed and oftentimes misguided man but believed at all times he was right and having the courage of his convictions frequently pursued a course against the advice of his friends. His death removes a prominent journalist and an active business man which will be felt throughout the state.

The declaration that "the prevalent result of football is not favorable to the best moral education of the great body of our youth," is made by Professor Josiah Royce, of the department of philosophy at Harvard, in a long article in the football number of "The Harvard Illustrated Magazine," which appeared today. In his article, Professor Royce says further:

It does not train loyalty to see another man's bones broken. Among the spectators it makes a loyal life and practical love of loyalty impossible as far as the conduct and spirit and results of these public displays are concerned. Professor Royce considers the worst feature of the game to be that evil which nobody intended often become prominent.

Reforms of these evils are only temporary, and after a time moral clouds gather again. I care not what special form these passing evils take during dark seasons. What I note is that the modern game is played under social conditions which render such incidents and recurrent mishaps inevitable.

In his lecture at Ithaca, N. Y., on Thursday in the Cornell department of sanitary science and public health, recently established by the state of New York, and speaking of "vital statistics in marriage and divorce," Professor Walter F. Wilson said:

The increase of divorce is so rapid that at the end of the present century, if it is not checked, fully one-half of the marriages will be ended by divorce instead of death.

The lecturer showed that divorces were only about one-fourth as likely after children are born, and the most divorces occur in the first few years of marriage. Marriages were decreasing as divorces multiplied, he said, a fact to be deplored for many reasons.

It was stated in a telegraph item yesterday's Gazette that Mr. Rufus Hatch, jr., of Philadelphia, will assume all legal claims against the estate of his father, a former New York broker, who died some fifteen years ago, heavily involved. He explains his unusual action by saying that he wanted to uphold the family honor. Such cases of honesty and integrity are so rare as to prompt special mention. Many men now are indifferent to their own obligations, and few indeed are they who assume those of their deceased fathers.

The "other side" appears to be having its inning in Richmond, for a dispatch from that city says:

That there will be a fight against the proposal to erect a joint monument to the memory of Lee and Grant at Bloody Angle in Spotsylvania, developed Friday, when several prominent Confederates, to whom the matter was broached, declared themselves unalterably opposed to such a plan, giving as their reason that Lee was so far superior to General Grant that the two should not be mentioned in the same breath, nor commemorated by the same stone.

"A UNIVERSAL grab game" was the appellation given the tariff by Representative Champ Clark, of Missouri, yesterday, at the hearing before the ways and means committee of the House on the tariff schedule for wood and wood manufactures. Mr. Clarke thus aptly "sized up" the situation.

From Washington.

[Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.]

Washington, Nov. 21.

With an insistent demand that the tariff be revised upward, so far as their business is concerned, representatives of the National Association of Lithographers descended upon the ways and means committee today. George R. Meyer, of Chicago, was the main spokesman. He declared that the tariff law was a cruel device and that the duty on all lines of lithographic print and labels and declared that on some classes of them the duty should be doubled.

News of the Day.

A revolution has broken out in Haiti, General Simon being the leader.

Two negroes, Walter Porter and James Thomas, both sent up from Charlottesville, escaped from the road camp, in charge of R. E. Mitchell, at Minnass, Thursday night. A reward of $500 has been offered for their capture.

President Roosevelt abandoned his daily ride yesterday to hear Carl E. Akeley, an African explorer, tell of the lions, tigers, elephants and other big game in that portion of Africa to be given by the executive.

One thousand five hundred dressed turkeys went down before the auctioneer's hammer on Thursday at Hatfield, Pa., the turkey clearing house, where dealers and farmers from nearby states congregated for the sale. Prices ranged from 17 to 25 cents a pound.

Dr. George W. Norris, a well known physician of Baltimore committed suicide yesterday at his home by shooting himself through the right temple with a revolver while standing undressed before a mirror. Dr. Norris was 64 years of age, and recently had been suffering from severe headaches, which at periods deranged his mind.

The British Board of Agriculture at a late hour in London yesterday afternoon was informed officially of the extension of the foot and mouth disease among cattle in the state of New York, and it yesterday issued an order prohibiting the importation of cattle, hay or straw from either New York or New Jersey. The prohibiting of the importation of these products from Pennsylvania was announced yesterday.

Virginia News.

Messrs. Stuart Oliver, of Baltimore, and Herbert Wyle have bought the Staunton Dispatch and News.

Mrs. Elizabeth Burke Lewis, wife of Dr. T. C. Lewis and sister of the late Robert W. Burke, president of the National Valley Bank, died in Staunton yesterday, aged 64 years. Her husband and one son survive.

W. H. Wilkerson, for 20 years an employe of the Southern Railway, yesterday morning was caught between a box car and an engine which he was trying to couple in the Southern yards in Manchester. The man's skull was crushed to a pulp.

The State Board of Health has purchased the Roanoke Red Sulphur Springs, in Roanoke county. The deed was executed at Salem yesterday and mailed to Richmond. The resort will be converted into a sanatorium for tuberculosis patients. The purchase price was $18,000.

Sandy Robinson and Thomas Burke, two well-to-do farmers living near Waterlick, Warren county, tracked a large black bear to his den on Thursday in the Fort Mountains and killed him. It weighed close to 350 pounds. This is the first bear seen in that section of the county for several years.

By a decision of Judge B. D. White in Portsmouth, yesterday afternoon, that city jumps in population from 25,000 to 35,000, and becomes the third city in population in Virginia. Judge White's decision legalized the annexation by Portsmouth of her suburbs in Norfolk county. In this annexed territory are 10,000 people and $1,500,000 in taxable property. Norfolk county will carry the contest to the Court of Appeals for final decision.

DEATH OF JOSEPH BRYAN.

Joseph Bryan, one of the best known citizens of the state, died at his home, Lumburnum, just outside of Richmond, last night.

Mr. Bryan had been suffering for about a week from heart trouble, and it had been known for several days that he was dangerously ill. Mr. Bryan was 63 years old.

The deceased was an active business man throughout life. Taking charge of the Richmond Locomotive Works, he conducted it successfully, and continued as managing director, after its absorption by the American Locomotive Works. He was also a director in the Southern Railway, and at the time of the reorganization of the Equitable Life Assurance Society was selected as one of the directors. He was also a director in the Stone Sheffeld Company and in the North Birmingham Land Company and a trustee of the Episcopal Theological Seminary and High School, near this city.

In the newspaper world, Mr. Bryan was chiefly known as the principal owner of the Times-Dispatch, of Richmond, which represents a consolidation of the Times and the Dispatch, which were for years the morning papers of Richmond.

Mr. Bryan was recognized as one of the south's greatest philanthropists, and he never allowed an opportunity for advancing southern interests to escape him. He was a native of Gloucester county, and at the outbreak of the civil war was a student at the University of Virginia. As soon as he arrived at a sufficient age, his parents acquiesced in his request, and he was allowed to join the Confederate army, entering the command of Col. John S. Maby, with which he served for the remaining period of the war.

After the war he was married to Miss Belle Stewart, daughter of Mr. John Stewart, of Brook Hill, Henrico county. Mr. Bryan was a leader in business circles throughout the south, and his death will be keenly regretted.

WHAT CAUSES DANDRUFF.

Greatest European Authority on Skin Diseases, Says It's a Germ.

The old idea that dandruff is scales of skin thrown off, through a feverish condition of the scalp, is exploded. Prof. F. H. Hama, Hamburg, Germany, European authority on skin diseases, says dandruff is a germ disease. The germ burrows under the scalp, throwing up little scales of cuticle, and sapping the vitality of the hair at the root. The only hair preparation that kills dandruff germs is Seb's Herpicide. "Destroy the cause you remove the effect." Not only cures dandruff, but stops falling hair and permits a luxuriant growth. Delightful hair dressing. Sold by Ernest L. Allen & Co., agents two size 50c and $1.00. Send for a stamp for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

New York Stock Market.

New York, Nov. 21.—The most important railroad issues were under pressure all through the morning. A number of specialties including Virginia Chemical were strong, while the rest of the market was heavy. At the close the tone was weak with the majority of the issues at the lowest points touched since the reaction started.

That Suppressed Interview.

New York, Nov. 21.—Claiming to have been released from an obligation to keep the public in the dark yesterday of an "entirely inaccurate version" of the suppressed interview granted by Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany to Dr. Willam Byard Hale, the New York World today prints an astounding synopsis of what it alleges to be the emperor's extraordinary statements.

The summary of the late interview, which took place on the Kaiser's yacht Hohenzollern in Norwegian waters last summer, as published by the World, contains the following main points: That King Edward of Great Britain had been humiliating him for more than two years and that he, the Kaiser, was exasperated; that Germany was the strongest power in Europe and that England was trying to neutralize that power.

That he held France in the hollow of his hand, and that Russia was of no account since the disastrous war she had waged with Japan.

That if the Pan-European war which had been so much talked about were inevitable, the sooner it came the better it would be for him, because he was ready and was tired of the suspense.

That Great Britain had been a decadent nation ever since her victory over the Transvaal and the Orange Free States, because her's was an unrighteous, ungodly cause, and divine judgment was bound, eventually, to overtake the powerful nation that waged such a war.

That the Anglo-Japanese alliance was an iniquitous alliance, a stain on the white races, England proving a "rotten" nation; that Japan was honeycombed with spies and sedition and flooding it with spies, poisoning openly to be England's friend and ally.

That the only way to counteract this alliance was for Germany and America to act together at an early date or America would have to fight the Japanese in ten months.

That in the event of a great war England would lose many of her large colonies, especially those in the Pacific, and that all he would take for Germany would be Egypt, though he would liberate the Holy Land from the yoke of the infidel, presumably meaning the Sultan.

That the perfection of the Zeppelin dirigible balloon would give Germany a powerful advantage in war, and she was ready to make use of it to the fullest extent.

According to the World the interview took place one evening after the Kaiser had dined and he had been in a humor which is said to be no novelty to his intimates.

The Revolt in India.

Calcutta, Nov. 21.—Only the knowledge that the declaration of martial law throughout India would create an uproar in England, prevents Viceroy Minto today from taking this radical step to put down the Indian agitation and sedition.

Lord Minto received reports today from officials all over the country that show the situation to be daily growing worse, yet he is holding back in the hope that some other course besides martial law will be found effective.

Minto has promised the free use of troops in suppressing riots, but his advisors say this measure alone is wholly inadequate.

In the event of uprising in both the north and south of India at the same time, it would be absolutely impossible for the English troops now in India to hold the country.

The native anarchist, Satyendro, was hanged this morning for the murder of a man named Gurney, who informed the police on Satyendro. The execution occasioned considerable excitement.

London, Nov. 21.—Reports are current in governmental circles that violent demonstrations marked the execution of Satyendro, the native anarchist in Calcutta today, and that only by a show of force was an outbreak averted.

Federation of Labor.

Denver, Col., Nov. 21.—There was an air of suppressed excitement among the American Federation of Labor delegates when they met at 10 a. m. for today's session. That was the hour set yesterday when the election of officers was made a special order of business. There is no doubt that all the old officers will be re-elected, with the exception of Daniel J. Keefe as sixth vice president.

Samuel Gompers was re-elected president of the American Federation of Labor. The opposition to him, which chiefly on the part of the socialist and Keefe factions, was withdrawn earlier in the week.

Battle Imminent.

Port au Prince, Hayti, Nov. 21.—With most of the Haytian army mobilized and troops pouring into the province of Les Cayes from every side, news of a sanguinary encounter between loyal forces under General Celestin and General Leoncio and the insurgents under General Antonio Simon is momentarily expected. While the government officials declare that there is no real danger of the revolution's movement becoming general and insist that General Simon's forces are meager and poorly armed, those most cognizant with the situation fear that the entire island is to be again plunged into warfare.

Hotel Proprietor Killed.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 21.—Enraged because he could not collect $2 from his former employer, Frank Brooks, 69 years old, who had been employed as a porter at the Central Hotel at Angola, last night shot and killed Joseph Froebel, proprietor of the hotel. He was immediately arrested. Brooks is a nephew of the millionaire, Edward Brooks, founder of the locomotive works at Dunkirk and was possessor in his own name of $10,000 after his father's death some thirty years ago. Brooks has for many years been leading an irregular life. Of late he usually worked for his board and drinks.

Czar in Funeral Procession.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 21.—Behind a double file of troops and with his every movement watched by members of the secret police, the czar today made his first public appearance since the death of the Grand Duke Alexis. The procession passed from the palace to the cathedral with his majesty apparently indifferent to any danger. Up to the last moment the fact that the czar was to march in the funeral procession was kept a complete secret and his appearance caused much surprise.

The Pan-Balkan Alliance.

Constantinople, Nov. 21.—By adding Roumania to the list of states likely to join the eve of effecting a union which will cost the deciding vote in any European discussion of the groups affairs.

Just how far the work of binding the various countries together has gone is not definitely known outside of official circles.

Serbia and Montenegro have actually signed a compact for mutual offense and defense, and Turkey and Bulgaria are reported as having arranged the terms of a similar understanding, which only await a ratification by the Constantinople and Sofia cabinets.

The next step will be to turn the two dual into one quadruple alliance and then to make it quintuple by adding Roumania to the combination. Such a coalition may be expected in the very near future.

Buried in Landslide.

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 21.—Three men are reported dead, many injured and possibly several buried in a landslide on Harrison avenue this morning. The dead and injured are laborers who were working with a steam shovel digging away a hill.

Street Cars Collide.

Chicago, Nov. 21.—Fifty persons are reported injured in a head-on collision between two street cars on the extreme south side at 8 a. m. The collision was due to the fog. The cars were running thirty miles an hour when they crashed.

Suicide of ex-Convict.

San Jose, Cal., Nov. 21.—Improvising a rope from his suspenders, George Ballard, an ex-convict, who last night fatally shot Police Officer Stribling, hung himself in his cell early today. The shooting occurred when Stribling attempted to arrest Ballard on a minor charge. The latter's wife was slightly wounded in an effort to wrest the revolver from him.

All doubt that Charles P. Taft, brother of the president-elect will be an active aspirant for Senator Jos. R. Foraker's toga when the Ohio legislative meets in January, was dispelled today at Cincinnati, O., when it was announced that he will no longer be active in corporation circles and he will withdraw from active participation in the affairs of every company in which the Taft and Scanton millions are invested. It is held Taft will be the leading candidate and unless the Foraker forces can be "held together" and dead lock the legislature he will have much the best of the contest.

In the presence of Prince Chun, the imperial plenipotentiary of the Chinese government, representatives of the foreign legations in Peking today paid their respects to the memory of the dead emperor and expressed condolence. ### A UNIQUE SANITARY HOUSE.

Among the exhibits at the late Congress on Tuberculosis held in Washington was a model of a sanitary concrete house which attracted much attention and was awarded the first gold medal. The following are a few of the especial, and for the most part new features, which the architect, Milton Dana Merrill, of Alexandria, has incorporated in the design:

The entire house is cast, the walls, floors, and fixtures being of reinforced concrete; window frames are of cast iron. Duplication is of course the secret of the proposed economy as it is estimated that six room attractive houses can be built for $1,200 when once the frames are perfected or made.

These forms are being constructed of a standard unit type so that they are to a great degree interchangeable and in this means homes may differ in plan and design and still be constructed over the same form. The possible conclusion of insurance and repairs and their general indestructible character makes this type of buildings especially applicable to rented houses. To thoroughly clean a vacated house the hose is used on walls, ceilings and the composition floors are graded to plugged the spots discharging on the lower floor. All corners are curved and all fixtures are bracketed from wall which leaves no places for the shelter of dust, vermin or insects. The coal is hoisted by a simple chain block attached to a swinging davit and is dumped through a hole in roof to large pocket from which it feeds by gravity into fire box of stove, the ashes falling into pit and being removed from an outside door.

This stove combines in one compact fixture cooking range, house and hot water heater and gas stove.

The garbage is placed in cast iron chamber in smoke flue and after drying is dumped by damper into the fire bed. Fireplaces in each room have flues about smoke stacks forming a natural ventilation.

The ice box is arranged for use as a fresh air closet, doing away with use of ice, except in hot weather. This is also arranged to be flushed with hose.

The walls are hollow to prevent dampness, and the roof is of open cellular construction, cool in summer.

An attractive feature of the house is the roof garden and sun room forming out-of-door bed-rooms divided by use of movable screens.

Window boxes form an inexpensive and at the same time artistic decoration. The exterior surfaces of concrete with pebbles worked and exposed.

The model has been for a week on display in the window of the drug store corner 13th and Pennsylvania avenue, Washington, and upon its return from New York will be placed on display in this city.

The model is to form a part of the exhibition in New York on the prevention of tuberculosis to be held there soon and the charitable organizations are considering making a duplicate model to form a part of their permanent traveling exhibit. The great interest which this house has aroused shows that it should mark a development in construction as well as a solution to the problem of the healthy housing of the poorer and industrial classes.

The first thirty houses have already been ordered and will be built near Washington as soon as construction plans and mould details are complete, and steps are being taken toward forming a company which will build these houses near many of the large cities. Mr. Morrill is well-known in this city where he has designed the Fairfax Apartment House and the First National Bank, which is now being constructed on King street.

Republican Contributions.

New York, Nov. 21.—When the report of George R. Sheldon, republican national treasurer, is filed with the state auditor of New York it will be found that the republican campaign which elected William Howard Taft president was conducted with a fund of about $1,700,000. Charles P. Taft was the heaviest contributor, having added $100,000 to the fund. Messrs. Carnegie and Morgan each contributed $25,000 and President Roosevelt $1,000.
